Excerpt: . . . the work and the conditions are different. from the others, and the plant at each point varies in important particulars, though each is in some respects typical of its kind. These three plants are embraced within a single contract, that of the Acme Engineering and Contracting Company, and, therefore, under the ultimate supervision of a single set of officials. Condensed fr. m Barge Canal Bulletin. An attempt has been made to have all apparatus conform as near as possible to some adopted standard, thus forming an equipment which may be used collectively or individually with the most economical results. In order to maintain all apparatus in good condition, and to make all repairs as quickly and cheaply as possible, an efficient and complete machine shop was installed at a central point at Lock No. 7. Not only all the repair work from the several branches of the contract is done at this shop, as well as many small parts of derricks, etc. , are manufactured and sent out to the various jobs, and it is seldom necessary to call upon an outside shop to do any of this work. Three distinct systems of power development and distribution are in use at these points: First, direct steam drive, furnished to the engines from small individual boilers located at various points on the work. This is the system ordinarily used on small contracts and is in operation at Dam No. 11, Lock No. 15, at Fort..
