Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Preliminary Study of Tearing Instruments and Tearing Test Methods for Paper Testing 1. Statement Of Problem For some time it has been a recognized fact in the paper industry that there is a need for an instrument that will give numerically the tearing strength of paper. Considerable work has been done along this line at different laboratories. The result has been that two types of tearing instruments have been invented and are used to some extent. One of these types is a recording instrument, giving a curve showing the maximum and minimum tearing strength of paper and the results of five initial tears. The other type gives merely the maximum tearing strength by weighing or measuring the load applied to the paper to tear it. Both types have their good and their bad points, which will be brought to light in the following study. II. Discussion Of Test Methods 1. Practical Tests With Different Size Test Samples Before taking up a study of the instruments themselves it must be remembered that the tearing strength of paper depends a great deal on the size of the test sample. For instance, a series of bag papers that had previously been tested for weight (in pounds) of the standard size ream 25 X 40 - 500 and for bursting strength were torn on the tensile-strength instrument described in Bureau Circular No. 107, pages 15-17, and on the two types of tearing instruments mentioned above. For convenience, let the recording instrument be called type I and the nonrecording instrument type II. The test samples were cut 1 by 8 inches for the tensile-strength machine, 23/4 by 1 1/8...
