Excerpt from Essay on Man Bathurst in 1763, was told by him in still stronger language that the Essay on Man was composed by Lord Bolingbroke in prose, and that Mr. Pope did no more than put it into verse. Dr. Blair reported this at the time to Boswell, who repeated it to Johnson. Johnson's immediate remark was, Depend upon it, sir, this is too strongly stated. Pope may have had from Bolingbroke the philosophic stamina of his Essay; and admitting this to be true, Lord Bathurst did not intentionally falsify. But the thing is not true in the latitude that Blair seems to imagine. We are sure that the poetical imagery, which makes a great part of the poem, is Pope's own. (Boswell, Life, vol. 7. p. 283.) This extemporised judgment of Johnson probably is as near the truth as we can get. It was from Bolingbroke's conversation that the poet derived not only many of his ideas, but the impulse to meddle with speculations for which he was little fit. But the internal evidence alone is inconsistent with the supposition that...
