Forms, 394. (rt) See 10 B. . C. 754.d Sainabury v. Pringle. (0) As to the entry of the recognisance, according to the present practice, see 1 Chitt. Arcbb. 636. 7th ed. (p) This can no longer happen, as above mentioned, since the defendant does not now join in the recognisance; but it may happen where there are 396. 398. There is a difference between a recognisance, which is in the nature of a judgment, and a bond: if a scirefacias be brought against two persons only as bail, upon a recognisance acknowledged by them and the principal jointly and severally, it will be bad on demurrer, and the writ shall abate, because, being founded upon a record, the plaintiff ought to set forth the cause of the variance from the record, as that the principal was dead.(p) But if an action be brought upon a joint and several bond against two only, where there are three or more obligors, the defendants ought to plead in abatement, that it was made by them and others in full life, not named in the writ; for the court will not intend that the bond was sealed and delivered by all that are named in it(q); and therefore the defendants...
