Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Pedigreed Fiber Flax The object of the work described. In this bulletin has been to develop improved strains of fiber flax. Parent plants for beginning the work of breeding fiber flax were first selected in the commercial flax fields of eastern Michigan in 1909. The progeny of these selected plants was carefully bred by elimination of all except the best types through several successive generations. The method of selection now used is based on a comparison by percentages of the various characters regarded as important and similar characters of the best strain used as a check. In a semicommercial test the pedigreed strains proved to be superior to commercial fiber flax. The supply of seed of the best pedigreed strains has been increased by growing two crops in one year. Efforts are now being made to combine the desirable characters of different strains by cross-pollination. A special score card and special instruments for cross-pollinating and for measuring flax have been devised.
