Demos Health. Paperback. Condition: New. 296 pages. This revised and updated fifth edition of the highly acclaimed gold standard textbook continues to provide a foundational review of health behavior theories, research methodologies, and behavior change intervention delivery across a range of populations and health conditions It examines the numerous, complex, and often comorbid factors that influence peoples ability to change behaviors to enhance their health including the intrapersonal, interpersonal, sociocultural, environmental, systems, and policy factors that can both positively and negatively affect ones ability to achieve health behavior goals. Beyond understanding predictors and barriers to achieving meaningful change, the Handbook provides the evidence base for novel and well-supported interventions and offers recommendations for future research. New content includes chapters on Skin Cancer and Melanoma Prevention, Interventions with the Family System, and the Role of Technology in Behavior Change including Mobile health technologies and electronic health data capture and transmission and a review of implementation science. And the fifth edition, like the previous edition, provides learning objectives and discussion questions to facilitate use by course instructors in health psychology, behavioral medicine, and public health. Handbook of Health Behavior Change 5th Edition is a valuable resource for students at the graduate and advanced undergraduate level in the fields of public or population health, health communications, medical sociology and anthropology, preventive medicine, and health psychology. It also is a great reference for clinical investigators, behavioral and social scientists, and healthcare practitioners who grapple with the challenges of supporting individuals, families, and systems when trying to make impactful health behavior change. New to the Fifth Edition: Revised and updated to encompass the most current research and empirical evidence in health behavior changeIncludes new chapters on Skin Cancer and Melanoma Prevention, Interventions with the Family System, and the Role of Technology in Behavior ChangeIncreased focus...
