May not each heart plead with God to send me to the Juniors; send me with a heart full of love; send me with an intense desire to show to them the Christ and his love; send me as his ambassador! Many of the Juniors who come to us have no reverence for God, no respect for his house, and not a spark of worship in their hearts. They come from the home to the Junior society, and the opportunity is ours-ours to teach them reverence and obedience to God, respect and love for his church, and a loyal, loving service to Jesus Christ. To this end I have suggested subjects along these lines, and trust that they may be used as heart-to-heart talks with the Juniors. Study the subjects carefully, and prepare a few good questions that will lead to an earnest talk with the Juniors. Do not preach a sermon or make a nice little speech to the Juniors, but lead them into a quiet, confidential, helpful talk. Every topic should have careful preparation beforehand. Many should be planned a week or two in advance. On this will largely depend your success or failure. I wonder whether you know how many splendid helps are to be had for Junior workers. If you do not, send to the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Tremont Temple, Boston, Mass. ,...
