On May 10, 1940, German bombs pelt areas close to the Koning home in Arnhem. The next day, German troops overrun the city and other parts of the country. Days later, when Rotterdam is gutted with bombs, the Dutch government capitulates. Soon after, Mark Koning s brother Lincoln arrives from America. Lincoln s carefree attitude charms the children, but Mark s wife, Nella, fears he might put her family in jeopardy with his zest for adventure. In Amsterdam, Jitse Wieringa, a Friesian Christian, worries about his Jewish wife and their 13-year-old daughter, Joslyn. Alecja is a translator for the German government, but when a German officer meets her young daughter and demands that the girl come to live at his villa, Jitse hides his family in his sculpture studio. Fearing this is still not safe, he finds a place for their daughter in an orphanage run by Dominican nuns. He brings her the Apple Eater, his handcarved statue of a life-sized boy, and it becomes a favorite in the cloister, hugged by starving and diseased children. Later in the war, the Konings...

Reviews

This publication can be really worth a go through, and superior to other. It is amongst the most amazing publication we have go through. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for about when you request me). -- Ms. Elda Schaden MD

This pdf might be really worth a go through, and far better than other. It can be packed with wisdom and knowledge Its been written in an exceedingly straightforward way and is particularly only soon after i finished reading through this pdf by which basically changed me, modify the way in my opinion.
