GAO found that: (1) NAFTA and its related agreements created a number of bodies and an organizational structure to carry out the terms of the agreements; (2) the newly created organizations include the Free Trade Commission, the Commission for Environmental Cooperation, the Commission for Labor Cooperation, the Border Environment Cooperation Commission, and the North American Development Bank; (3) the responsibility for establishing and managing the various NAFTA bodies is being shared equally by the United States, Canada, and Mexico; (4) setting up several NAFTA supporting bodies has taken longer than initially expected, according to government officials; (5) the potential exists to expand the number of NAFTA organizations; (6) the three countries trade ministers have proposed a new coordinating body, the NAFTA Coordinating Secretariat (NCS), that would require new staff and a permanent site; and (7) negotiations to formally establish NCS have been delayed by disagreements over the number of permanent staff assigned from each country and the specific functions of NCS.
