Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Mary Barker: A Thrilling Narrative of Early Life in North Carolina Dusky Dell, the name given to my father's residence, is the strangest, most weird and ghost-like place to be found in Randolph county. The location is in a valley enclosed by steep, rugged hills; up the little stream is a dark pine forest, that perpetually sends a melancholy moaning along the hills like some wailing spirit, seeking rest and finding none; down the valley is an extensive view of rolling country, covered with a low, scraggy, copse-wood, having an occasional pine tree, that in the dusk of evening looks like some dark-robed spirit meditating evil. The place is not without a certain species of beauty, but it is a beauty so spectral and unearthly, that it has no gladness in it. Then the house adds to the sombre, haunted, dreary aspect of the scene. It is a large old-fashioned establishment, begun long before the Revolution, and apparently not finished yet.
