Piepmeier Contents I-Organization II-Duties of resident engineers and inspectors III-Daily routine of engineers in charge of road construction IV-Reports V-Water supply VI-Road bed VII-Laying pavement VIII-Cement IX-Materials X-Central mixing plants XI-Finishing concrete pavements XII-Special sections XIII-Curing XIV-Bituminous filled brick construction XV-Bituminous concrete pavements XVI-Gravel roads XVII-Macadam roads XVIII-Bituminous macadam roads XIX-Earth roads XX-Oiled earth roads XXI-Shoulders and side ditches XXII-Acceptance of work XXIII-Payment estimates XXIV-Detour and barricade signs Preface The purpose of this bulletin is to set forth briefly the requirements of the Department of Public Works and Buildings, in the construction of various types of roads. It must be understood that all preliminary work in the location of right-of-way, surveys, plans and specifications, regardless of the time or talent employed in the preparation of the work, may be useless if the construction is not intelligently and fairly executed. During the next ten years it is estimated that one hundred million dollars will be spent for road improvement in Illinois. It is very important, therefore, that all work be done in accordance with approved principles and under intelligent supervision in order that the burden imposed by future maintenance may be reduced to a minimum. No set of rules and no set of specifications can be written to cover completely all conditions which may arise. Experience, judgment, and integrity in carrying out the requirements of the specifications must dictate the answer to many doubtful questions that may arise in the construction of the work. It is hoped, therefore, that this bulletin may offer suggestions that will aid both the engineer and the contractor in the successful completion...
