Outskirts Press, United States, 2013. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . DUNCAN COLE BIO. How does one person fit so much into a single lifetime? Come around the world with me a couple of times, visiting over 70 countries; share 10 years in the Royal Australian Navy, 4 marriages, half a dozen businesses, tertiary education at 50, more close shaves than a stunt pilot, circumnavigation of Australia, diving on the Great Barrier Reef, flying a light plane, and settling down to teach in southern China. Above all I am a survivor. Trips on ships, trains and planes amongst many others - and all the while - anecdotes, some of them hilarious, some with a deal of pathos. When so many people kept saying You ought to write a book - I finally did.and here it is. The son of a Naval officer, I became familiar with the military way of life at a very early age. I was christened on board a warship, HMS St. Kitts. The family moved from Kent to Scotland when I was three years old. My father served in a destroyer squadron based in the Gerloch, near Glasgow, defending the North Atlantic sealanes. In England, at my father s depot, Chatham Barracks, Portsmouth, I fired my first small-bore rifle at age six. A year later the family moved to Australia for a two year exchange duty for my father. I went to Bondi Beach primary school, where I was introduced to poetry during punishment, which was being prevented from playing sport. At age 9 it was back to England to live in Nottingham for four years. This is the longest I have stayed in one place for all of my life. There was a pub in Nottingham called...
