Mariner Books. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 336 pages. Dimensions: 8.1in. x 5.4in. x 1.1in. The latest edition of this annual, assembled by the acclaimed writer and editor Philip Zaleski, not only showcases some of the finest writing of the year but offers astute perceptions on subjects that are universal, timeless, and yet deeply personal. Culled from an impressive variety of sources and ranging over topics as disparate as Shaker furniture, perfume, and the monastic life, the essays and poems collected here share a search for purpose beyond the mundane -- and find answers in the likeliest and unlikeliest of sources. Here you will find George Packers The Moderate Martyr, a profile of the peaceful Islamic visionary Mahmoud Muhammad Taha, alongside Sridhar Pappus report on the Preacher, Bishop T. D. Jakes, the entrepreneurially inclined leader of one of the largest churches in the country. Gary Wills questions whether it is possible (or even desirable) to live according to the maxim What would Jesus do In response to the recent spate of atheist attacks on organized religion, Marilynne Robinson offers an insightful critique of Hysterical Scientism. Adam Gopnik explores the link between Shaker beliefs and the austere beauty of Shaker creations, and...
