I have heard some touching instances of the intensity with which it manifested itself in thousands, who had never seen his face, or heard his voice, -to whom, indeed, his very name and being were unknown, until the tidings of his death awoke in them the vain regret that they had not earlier known and honoured the good great man who worked unseen among them. But, alas! Regrets of this description are in their very nature transient and all ranks of the people have much to learn before they can rightly appreciate what a treasure of hope and energy, of life and love, of greatness and glory for himself and them, lies buried in that untimely grave.
