Viking. 1 Paperback(s), 2013. soft. Book Condition: New. (Winner of the 2014 Andrew Carnegie Medal for Excellence in Nonfiction) As she did in her enormously popular Team of Rivals: The Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln and her Pulitzer Prizewinning No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, Doris Kearns Goodwin here looks at a signal moment in American history in this case, the turn of the 20th century and the Progressive Era through the relationships of a larger-than-life president to his closest friends and allies. In a time with headlines disturbingly similar to our own the gap between rich and poor has never been wider. Legislative stalemate paralyzes the country. Spectacular mergers produce giant companies. The influence of money in politics deepens. Small wars proliferate far from our shores Theodore Roosevelt employed the bully pulpit of the popular press, with the help of muckraking journalists like Ida Tarbell, Ray Stannard Baker, Lincoln Steffens, and William Allen White, to challenge robber barons, political bosses, and moneyed influence peddlers. His partner in this progressive revolution was William Howard Taft, and Roosevelt chose him as his successor. But when Taft surrendered to the money men and big business, Roosevelt ran against him, dividing their families and the Republican Party, and leading to Woodrow Wilson's presidential triumph in 1912. 910.
