Excerpt from The Medical and Legal Relations of Madness: Showing a Cellular Theory of Mind, and of Nerve Force, and Also of Vegetative Vital Force This inquiry will aim to bring the question within the rules of induction which guide other inquiries, and to show that diseased affections of the mind, and of the senses, may be traced to injury or decay, or to an abnormal condition of the organic structures. The relation of madness with jurisprudence has hitherto been as intimate as with medicine; but in?exible legal codes, adapted to the interests of property and of material things, have proved inadequate to cope with the laws of physiology and life; and jurisprudence badly comprehends the interests of the lunatic.
