VDM Verlag Sep 2009, 2009. Taschenbuch. Condition: Neu. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Biological nitrogen fixation (BNF) is the most important biochemical reaction for life on earth. BNF occurs mainly through symbiotic association of legumes with certain N₂-fixing microorganisms that convert elemental nitrogen into ammonia. Phosphorus has a significant positive effect on the growth and biological yield of the legumes. Supply of available N following legumes is usually higher than those following non-legumes. The ability of legumes to fix atmospheric nitrogen, their nodulated roots and plant residues left after harvesting represent a valuable source of organic N. Annual crop legumes, grown in rotation with cereal crops, can improve yields of the cereals and contribute to the total N pool in soil. Legume-cereal sequence also enhanced biomass and grain yield as well as WUE of subsequent wheat. However, it is recommended that further long term trials involving legumes-cereal rotation may be conducted on farmer's field to get comprehensive data, improving the understanding and to come up to a more sound conclusion. 176 pp. Englisch.
