

THE ANCIENT PATHS: Discovering the Lost Map of Celtic Europe

By GRAHAM ROBB

Condition: New. What surfaces from these pages -- if true -- is nothing less than a wonder of the ancient world: the first solid evidence of Druidic science and its accomplishments and the earliest accurate map of a continent. Suggestions follow thick and fast, backed by a mixture of close reading, mathematical construction and scholarly detective work. Robb manages his revelations with a showman's skill, modestly conscious that his book is unfurling a map of Iron Age Europe and Britain that has been inaccessible for millennia. Minutely researched and rich in revelations, the book brings to life centuries of our distant history and reinterprets pre-Roman Europe. The findings . . . bring into question two millennia of thinking about Iron Age Britain and Europe and the stereotyped image of Celts as barbarous, superstitious tribes. DAILY TELEGRAPH.
