

Climate Change - A Challenge for Europe and Cyprus

By Engin Karatas

tradition. Paperback. Condition: New. 106 pages. Dimensions: 8.3in. x 5.8in. x 0.2in. In the beginning of the 21st century climate change has become a central challenge of global policy making and in terms of sustainable development. Unless it can be stopped in time, there will be incalculable consequences for the economic and social development of a globalized society. The member states of the European Union and the EU itself has to come forward in the vanguard of climate policy. Climate protection requires not only the use of renewable energy sources, energy saving and improvement of energy efficiency, but also mitigation of adverse impacts through nature conservation and preservation of biodiversity, better water management, CO2 sinks, as well as an improved environmental education. This book confronts the most urgent questions facing us now from a general and also from a Cyprus specific point of view: The outstanding tableau of authors from Europe and Cyprus brings the right expertise to have an insight view into the challenges the islands nature is already facing in the context of climate change. This book is the result of the second Conference on Sustainability of the German-Cypriot Forum in Cooperation with Friends of Nature Cyprus, which took...

Reviews

Great electronic book and useful one. It can be written in straightforward terms rather than difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
