By Horace Walpole

Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Some Unpublished Letters of Horace Walpole Mr. Walpole, omitted to do so from 1774; and Mr. Walpole was compelled, with the concurrence of the Bank, and on the advice of its counsel, to make the Alexanders bankrupts and prosecute the possession of the mortgaged estates. The suit, which was instituted in the Court of Chancery in Granada, was protracted till 1779, when the Governor, Lord Macartney, who was also Chancellor of the island, at last fixed a day for pronouncing his decree. Before judgment was delivered, however, the island, by a rare stroke of illfortune, was captured by the French; and Lord Macartney, perhaps a little ashamed of delays partly of his own making, signed a declaration of his intended decree, which was entirely in Mr. Walpole's favour.
