Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Two Sermons of April, 1865 At the period to which these words refer, they were having about such a time in the land of Canaan as we are having in our own country now. It was the clearing of after a storm. The person regularly appointed to administer the government had been rejected by a portion of the people. Providence had employed the scourge of war to bring them to terms. A victorious battle produced a political reaction in the hearts of the disaffected. An impassioned loyalty, in the most sudden manner, as if by a miracle, seized possession of every heart. They repaired to Gilgal and renewed the kingdom, amid religious sacrifices, and fervent public rejoicings. It is our privilege to participate in a similar scene on a far larger scale. We had heard of such things in history, - the wild frenzy of delight in Philadelphia when, in the dark night, the watchman's cry rang through the silent streets, announcing that Cornwallis had surrendered; the bell-ringing and bonfires and cannonades in England, at the tidings that Wellington...
