Gatekeeper Press, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . The blistering new 5* international thriller. Fast and furious, like Reacher, only more human. I couldn't stop reading it. THE BOOKIE Ever wanted to help someone vulnerable, but not known how? Meet Sam. Sam's a dad. He's also ex-SBS. Sam returns from special operations at sea to mourn his murdered wife, and care for his daughter. His clandestine company, CHARLIE, provides an income to support his little girl, and helps him appease his desire for vengeance. Until he's asked to do a job which throws their healing, and safety, into doubt.  The pace is so fast I was out of breath at times. Sam is a flawed character which makes him believable. It's been a while since I read a book in a day but I could not put Charlie down.  A gripping suspenseful thriller. I brought this book on holiday to read and had it done on the first day!  I thought this book was a great read, and it would make a great film. The character Sam is well written and the plot doesn't slow down and drag. Like a good tune, it keeps great rhythm till the very end.  This is a fantastic book - from the first page it grips you and just refuses to let go, but with a sensitivity that is rare in novels of this kind. I thoroughly enjoyed it from start to finish and can't recommend it highly enough.  This book is about more than some vigilante. There's a lot in there about PTSD, dealing with a violent past, and about parenthood after being immersed in conflict. But it's fast, and...
