

Chicken of the Sea

By Neil Barry

Barry Stedman, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Beginning with a whimsical title and cover, nothing in this mystery is what it seems. Victor Joshua Walker's father is an assistant manager of the local supermarket, obsessed with Russian composers and Captain Joshua Slocum, the first man to sail alone around the world 100 years earlier. Much to Victor's dismay, his father has planned a similar journey for his family and is building a boat in the barn next door. After a neighbor's trailer burns to the ground, he launches his boat and they move aboard. After nine years, it still isn't finished; it's the dead of winter; the marina's deserted; the boat is the size of a school bus; and there's no heat! No matter that Victor's father has told everyone he will follow Slocum's route, for seemingly no reason at all, he suddenly decides to go another way. Chicken of the Sea is more than a story about dragging three cynical kids around the world. Along with dry humor are the realistic aspects of living...
