GAO evaluated the effectiveness of the operating differential subsidy program through which the Maritime Administration provides a subsidy to U. S. operators to cover the difference between certain U. S. vessel costs and similar costs of foreign competition. The policy was enacted to help U. S. operators compete with their foreign counterparts. The review primarily focused on the liner or general cargo segment of the subsidized U. S. -flag fleet. However, most of the issues discussed also affected the bulk operators. Some program requirements and procedures imposed on U. S. -flag operators increase costs and create other disadvantages which tend to negate the competitive position the program is supposed to provide. To promote U. S. shipyards, the operating subsidy program requires that vessels be built in the United States. However, the construction subsidy rate does not always compensate the operator for the higher construction financing costs, longer construction times, and other costs incurred by using U. S. shipyards. Thus, building vessels in the United States limits subsidized operators ability to compete with foreign competition. Policies to promote U. S. ship repair...

Reviews

Very helpful to all of group of men and women. It can be written in easy terms instead of confusing. You will like how the writer wrote this book.
-- Dr. Daren Mitchell PhD

The very best publication I have at any time studied. It really is basic but shocks inside the fifty percent of the ebook. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
