Excerpt: . . . 11 egory is a general visa that applies to a wide range of workers. These visas can be granted to everyone from bakers to occupational therapists to computer programmers and fashion models. If we just increase the H - 1B caps, we will not be targeting our specific need for high tech workers. Instead, we may end up inadvertently pro-viding a supply of workers in other fields for which there may not be any shortage of labor at all. The second problem with continuing to simply raise the H - 1B cap is that it does not address the long-term education and training challenges that we face. In June, the Joint Economic Committee, which has already been referred to and on which I sit, convened a 3-day high technology summit to discuss the impact of technology on our Nations economy. It was helpful in terms of confirming what most of us already suspected, that the advances in technology have accounted for half of our economic growth in the last 50 years and for a quarter of our real growth in recent years. We learned that the three fastest growing occupations in the United States are database administrators, computer engineers, and systems ana-lysts. The number of people employed in these areas is expected to double by the year 2006. The other thing we heard from high tech CEO after CEO is that the real answer to our workforce shortages lies in the improvement of our elementary and...
