By Colin Wilson

Valancourt Books, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 214 x 138 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . He writes a clear, light prose, and he makes his interests, however bizarre, seem important. - Punch One of the more earnest and interesting writers of his generation. - The Guardian He has the kind of story-telling power which could charm the birds off the trees. - The Journal (Newcastle upon Tyne) Gerard Some has been hired by a New York publisher to edit a book on Esmond Donnelly, notorious 18th-century Irish rake, friend of Rousseau, Boswell and Horace Walpole, and author of a bawdy work on the deflowering of virgins. Some s quest for information on Donnelly takes him to the home of a pyromaniac and flagellant in Baton Rouge, the labyrinthine corridors of the British Museum, and a remote castle in Ireland. As he digs deeper into the mystery of Donnelly, Some uncovers a tale of intrigue, conspiracy, and murder involving a secret society, the Sect of the Phoenix, that dates back to medieval times. But the Sect still exists, and Some s researches have not gone unnoticed by powerful men who have their...
