WHITEY S CAREER CASE: THE INSULIN MURDERS (PAPERBACK)

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2011. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . The witnesses and experts, both medical and legal, were in place. When the judge entered the Los Angeles County Superior Court, the bailiff said, All rise, Department 25 is now in session. A colleague turned to Los Angeles Sheriff s detective Harold White and said, Whitey, are you ready? Whitey nodded his head and said, Let s get this show on the road. The show was the prosecution s case in the murder trial against William Dale Archerd in 1967. Detective White first knew of Archerd when he was shown the file on the 1957 murder of Zella Archerd, one of Archerd s seven wives. A few years later as one of the investigators in the murder of Archerd s nephew, White met Archerd personally. He was a handsome man with silver hair and a silver tongue - he looked like a banker or a corporate CEO. Frustrated with the lack of progress in the case of the death of the nephew, but convinced that Archerd was involved in the death of two of his wives, White contacted Archerd s current wife, Gladys, and frankly told her he was afraid she may be the next victim. This may have saved her life, as she lived to testify in Archerd s trial. Incredibly, despite the warnings Gladys testified for her husband. She was still in love with the scoundrel. What was it this guy had that made all these ladies become enamored with him? White focused on Archerd again when he investigated the death of yet another of Archerd s wives. He and his fellow detectives examined and reexamined the deaths of three wives and three other people. Circumstantial evidence...
