SIGMA Phi Epsilon Journal, Vol. 31: February 1934 (Classic Reprint) (Hardback)

By F James Barnes II

Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Sigma Phi Epsilon Journal, Vol. 31: February 1934 I have gone to the South for a Sig Ep center, burly Talmadge Maples, leader of the University of Tennessee gridgers. Maples, all-southern pivot, received deserved recognition throughout the nation s Sports circles for his magnificent exhibition of center play on a team that for some strange reason has not received the attention it has certainly merited. It was something in the nature of a mental Shake up for me when I learned that the Vols had lost only a half dozen games during eight years of consistent nine and ten game schedules which included Vanderbilt, Duke, Alabama, Louisiana State, Kentucky, Florida and others in the deadly class of heavy weights. Maples, although handicapped by injuries for a part of the season played his usual flashing, slashing pivotal game when he was in there. Maples is the instinctive type of center. From authenticated reports he appears to be a replica of Jack Heaphy, decade-ago Boston College center, who guessed plays before the opponents Signals were called. Offensively Maples was ag...
