Forgotten Books, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, Vol. 37: August 1847 to February 1848 The tenth case occurred in my own practice, about a year and a half ago. The subject of it, in a drunken frolic, was thrown into deep snow, with one or two persons upon him, by which an oblique fracture of the tibia and fibula was produced. A sharp point of the tibia perforated the skin. The small wound, thus produced, healed by the first intention; though some ten days after, a moderate degree of suppuration took place over the extreme point of the bone; not, however, at the point where the skin was punctured. At the end of two months no bony callus had formed, though the patient had been kept quiet in bed. Blisters, iodine, compression, and firm dressings, constituted the subsequent mode of treatment for five or six months. At this time the patient again returned to his old habit of intoxication; and, of course, took himself out of my hands, with a fibro-ligamentous union of the tibia. I have not seen the patient for the last two or three months, so that I cannot now speak of the present condition of the limb.* The eleventh case is the subject of this report, whose history and result have already been given. The twelfth and last case that I can now bring to mind, is a fracture of the femur, within an inch and a half of the patella, which occurred in the first week in May last, in my absence in attendance at the late National Medical Convention. It has been in charge of one of our best physicians and surgeons; and I have...
