Excerpt from A Discourse Delivered to the First Parish in Hingham, September 8, 1869, on Re-Opening Their Meeting-House Only twelve years are wanting to complete two centuries, since our fathers first assembled for Christian worship beneath this roof. Compared with this edifice, the house which they erected was of narrow dimensions, and of rude and inexpensive workmanship. Neither plastering nor paint was employed to exclude the freezing winds of winter, or to conceal the roughly hewn timbers by which it was supported. Cushioned pews in an atmosphere artificially softened, were unthought of and undesired by the earnest men and women of that generation. Seats Of oak covered the entire area, both of the floor and the galleries, and these were occupied on the one side by the male and on the other by the female portion of the congregation. Still, when we consider the numbers and the resources of the builders; their Offering for the worship of God, for the upbuilding of Christ s kingdom, and for the highest welfare Of our race, greatly exceeded in expensiveness, the more costly structure which we have now assembled to rededicate to the service Of our father s God. Place yourselves in imagination in the midst of these early inhabitants. Somewhat less than fifty years had elapsed since their homes were the homes of a savage race; since their cultivated fields were covered withprimeval forests the hunting ground and the hiding place of the bear and the panther. Our Ptiritan and Pilgrim ancestors did not generally belong to the wealthier classes in the country from which they emigrated. A portion of their estates, if no pecuniary sacrifice attended their sale, was necessarily expended in their passage...
