Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from A Plea for the Smaller College: An Address Delivered on Founders Day at Alma College, June 16, 1897 Founders Day, which we now inaugurate, suggests two ideas, viz: first, the history of this institution. Second, the aims of those who participated in laying its foundation. In rehearsing anew the history of Alma College it shall be my purpose, omitting lengthy details, to emphasize the fact that this Institution was born of God and was not the contrivance of man; and then, by taking as my theme a plea for the smaller college, to embody in that theme the motives and aims of those men whom God chose to employ as instruments in carrying out his design. You have now become acquainted with the fact, the knowledge of which has so long been kept in such abeyance as to be almost forgotten, that the idea of a college under the auspices of the Synod of Michigan is not a new one, but as old as the history of the State. The name of John P. Cleveland, D. D., you must have noticed, appears in the Minutes of Synod as the second in the roll of Moderators in 1835, and again as Moderator in 1843. The honor to have been thus twice chosen appears never to have been conferred upon any other man, an indication of the high estimation in which he was held by his brethren. He also acted as Stated Clerk from 1834 - 7. In the year 1837 Dr. Cleveland resigned his pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit and was installed pastor of the church at Marshall, and took charge of a preliminary school as President...
