The Specifications for generating sets were referred to in the Intelligence Annual for 1892, and an illustration given of an eight kilowatt set, of the new type, as constructed by the General Electric Co. The principal points of the specifications which determined the construction of this type were the continuous Operation of the engines without oil in the steam spaces, the provision limiting the heating of the dynamo, and the absence Of external magnetic field. Two eight-kilowatt sets of this type have been placed aboard the Concord, and two others aboard the Bennington. Sixteen-kilowatt sets are in use on the Dolphin, Detroit and New York, while thirty-two-kilowatt sets, Shown in Fig. 1, are also installed aboard the latter vessel. Similar sets of various sizes are constructed and in process Of installation aboard the Maine, Cincinnati, Raleigh, Montgomery, Marblehead, Columbia, Puritan, Terror and Amphitrite. Under these circumstances a few details may be of interest. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
