Very helpful to any or all category of folks. It is written in simple phrases rather than difficult to understand. It has been developed in an exceptionally simple way and is particularly just after I finished reading this pdf in which it basically transformed me, modified the way in my opinion.

The fact that he made but little improvement in rate of silent reading is very significant. It indicates that much specific attention is necessary in some cases if satisfactory results are to be secured in establishing fluent habits of reading. Apparently more attention should have been given to the problem of rate of reading in the remedial instruction. CASE Q A FOURTH-GRADE GIRL WHO ENCOUNTERED DIFFICULTIES BOTH IN THE MECHANICS OF READING AND IN INTERPRETATION BECAUSE OF ERRATIC AND INADEQUATE APPLICATION Introductory statement.--E. A. was ten years of age in January, 1922, when the study of her case began. She was pale, thin, restless, and nighty. She was well dressed, neat, and clean. Her teachers reported that she was quarrelsome, a disturbing element in the school, and very erratic in her habits of work. A report of her school work in previous years indicated that her progress had been irregular. She did fairly good work for short periods of time, very poor work at other periods, and unusually good work occasionally. Preliminary diagnosis.--Several standardized tests were used. in the preliminary study of her case. The names of the tests, E. A. s scores, and the standard fourth-grade scores are given in Table LXV. The scores show that E. A. was slightly below the average in general mental ability and quite weak...
