Not illustrated. 1831 Excerpt: .crust of sullen dogged patience had broken up, and their whole souls had exploded into reckless fury and brutal revenge--and yet there was no hint of violence against the red fat woman, who, surrounded with her blubbering children, stood screaming and cursing at the first-floor window, getting redder and fatter at every scream. The worst personality she heard was a roar of laughter, in which, such is poor humanity, I could not but join, as her little starved drab of a maid-of-all-work ran out of the door, with a bundle of stolen finery under her arm, and high above the roaring of the flames, and the shouts of the rioters, rose her mistress s yell. O Betsy! Betsy! you little awdacious unremorseful hussy!--a running away with my best bonnet and shawl! The laughter soon, however, subsided, when a man rushed breathlessly into the yard, shouting, The...
