Forgotten Books, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Universalist Quarterly: January, 1865 Three years ago, after the rebellion was successfully set in motion, thoughtful men dreaded the event of a new election. They were fearful that by great exertions on the part of the traitorous faction South, by the active sympathy which was accorded to the rebellion in Europe, by the indirect aid and comfort which it was receiving from its former political allies North, the war might last during the whole Of Mr. Lincoln s first term of Office. This would bring upon us the excitement of a presidential election in the midst of a civil war. Would not this put our government to the test beyond all precedent Might it not imperil everything? With such anticipations, the event has been awaited by the friends and foes of our government, both at home and abroad. The eyes of all Europe have been upon us. The event came. It came With much excitement. But the excitement was too deep and earnest to be marked by the characteristics Of other and former presi dential campaigns. It...
