Excerpt from Practical Treatise on Coignet-Beton: And Other Artificial Stone The degree of strength and hardness, and consequently the durability, attained by mortar in setting, is dependent on the quality of the lime or cement employed, the kind and quantity of sand, the method and degree of manipulation, and the position, with respect to moisture or dryness, in which it is subsequently placed. A mortar, of which the matrix is common lime only, will never harden under water, or to any considerable extent if kept in damp places, excluded from the air. A condition of constant humidity, on the contrary, is favorable to the induration of all hydraulic mortars.
