Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Hand-Book of Public Health Laboratory Work and Food Inspection The lectures delivered by me to the Surgeons under Instruction at the R. N. Hospital, Haslar, have been collected into three parts which are now bound in one volume. Part I. treats of the main points to be observed in the inspection of Fish, Flesh, and Fowl intended for human food. Part II. includes the chief features in the examination of Water, Air, Milk, various Foodstuffs, Wines, etc. Part III. embraces the main facts concerned with the subject of Meteorology and the influence of the various atmospheric phenomena on health and disease. The study of Climatology has received much more notice of late years than it formerly did, chiefly owing to the increased amount of attention which is now paid to the study of the diseases met with in warm climates, for the existence of many of which, certain climatic conditions are chiefly responsible. Climatology is a study for which many opportunities are afforded by those following the sea as officers (medical or otherwise) in the Royal Navy, and a knowledge of Meteorology is essential to those who study the various climates they experience. The want of a book comprising the above subject has been felt by numerous Naval Medical Officers, and it is hoped that this work, which has been written and compiled after some years experience in Public Health Laboratory Work, may prove of service not only to them, but also to candidates for the Diploma in Public Health of the various examining boards. I have to express my thanks to Sir W. H. Flower, K. C. B., F. R. S., late Director of the...
