

Optimizing Wireless Communication Systems

By Cavalcanti, Francisco Rodrigo Porto / Andersson, Sören

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: Springer, Berlin | This book is a comprehensive collection of advanced concepts divided into two main parts: resource allocation and adaptive transceivers for link optimization. These two research areas are at the core of the recent advances in wireless communication systems. | In June 2000, GTEL (Wireless Telecommunications Research Group) at the Federal University of Ceara was founded by Professor Rodrigo Cavalcanti and his colleagues with the mission of developing wireless communications technology and impact the development of the Brazilian telecommunications sector. From the start, this research effort has been supported by Ericsson Research providing a dynamic environment where academia and industry together can address timely and relevant research challenges. This book summarized much of the research output that has resulted from GTEL's efforts. It provides a comprehensive treatment of the physical and multiple access layers in mobile communication systems describing different generations of systems but with a focus on 3G systems. The team of Professor Cavalcanti has contributed scientifically to the development of this field and built up an impressive expertise. In the chapters that follow, they share their views and knowledge on the underlying principles and technical trade-offs when designing...
