Excerpt from The Apostolic Rite of Confirmation: Being the Substance of Two Sermons Preached Before His Congregation, on Sunday, January 27, 1867 Deacon, and from his hands received baptism. On this being made known to the Apostles at Jerusalem, they immediately sent two Of their number to lay their hands on the converts, and pray that they might receive the Holy Ghost. You observe it was a special function Of Apostles, something above and beyond the Office of a deacon, (one qualified merely to initiate new members) this laying-ou-of-hands. Again (in the xix. Chap.) we find that S. Paul came to Ephesus, and found there certain disciples, Of whom he enquired whether they had received the Holy Ghost, evidently by the laying-on-of-hands. If they had not, his intention was to communicate the blessing himself, having apostolic rank. He supposed they had already been admitted to the church by the initiatory rite, for you may remember, when they said in reply 10 his question, that they (had not heard Of the Holy Ghost having been given to believers in Christ) he asks in surprise, unto what then were ye bap rtized? And on learning that it was only as disciples Of S. John the Baptist, he caused them first to be baptized as Chris tians, and then he laid his hands on them, and thcv received the Holy Ghost. In both these instances, I mposlloll Of hands is closely connected with Baptism. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
