

The Practice of Collaborative Counseling and Psychotherapy: Developing Skills in Culturally Mindful Helping

By David A. Pare

SAGE Publications Inc, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. New.. 231 x 188 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. This is a key text for courses in the helping professions that will assist students in learning the basic skills of helping. The course is a requirement for any student in counselling, psychotherapy or social work as it prepares students for the work they will be doing with clients. With a focus on developing skills that are collaborative by involving the client in the helping process/solution and it has an integrated focus on multicultural skills and social justice. The author first outlines the basic process of counselling and counsellor self-care, then goes on to conversation and counselling, receiving, attending, listening, positive regard, empathy and connection. He then moves onto the basics of developing a relationship with the client as well as relating to the experience. Finally, a look is taken at the treatment-planning stage via a shared experience by involving the client in the process. Every chapter contains the following pedagogy: - case study - sample dialogue - chapter objectives - boxed capsules to highlight key skills - reflections on practice - experiential exercises - questions for reflection -...

Reviews

This publication is definitely worth getting. I actually have go through and so i am sure that i will gonna read through again yet again later on. I am just quickly can get a satisfaction of looking at a created pdf. -- Hailee Armstrong I

This sort of pdf is every little thing and made me seeking forward and a lot more. This is certainly for all who statte that there was not a worth reading through. I found out this book from my dad and i recommended this publication to discover. -- Christopher Kozey

DMCA Notice |Terms