Excerpt: . . . chapter xiv. opening the safe. ; The four men stood in silence before the body. Jimmy bent and touched the hand. Dead! he said. Angel made no reply, but switched on every light in the room. Then he passed his hands rapidly through the dead mans pockets; the things he found he passed to one of the other detectives, who laid them on the table. A chisel, a jemmy, a centre-bit, lamp, pistol, enumerated Angel. It is not difficult to understand why Connor came here; but who killed him He made a close inspection of the apartment. The windows were intact and fastened, there were no signs of a struggle. In the sitting-room there were muddy footmarks, which might have been made by Connor or his murderer. In the centre of the room was a small table. During Angels frequent absences from his lodgings...
