Excerpt from Genealogy of the Caverly Family, From the Year 1116 to the Year 1880: Made Profitable and Exemplified by Many a Lesson of Life Our world and its origin, as well as the origin and progress of its families, are subjects which always have inspired a lively interest. Creation and created things, which at sight tend to evince vast power and paternal kindness, are full of inspiration. All things, as seen around us, are fraught with an Obvious design, evincing a divine purpose, progressive. And they advance as if to exhilarate the human race, to quicken their energies, urging everybody onward to an economical, duteous industry. There was a time, as we have been taught, when this earth was without form, and darkness was upon it; a time when there was no sun, no moon no stars; nor man, nor beast, nor bird, nor living thing. From this an inference has been drawn, that up to that hour gross darkness had prevailed in this immensity; a darkness so dense, so cold and deadly, that neither man nor animals, if then living, could have survived its presence.
