LYRICAL POEMS (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Lyrical Poems My first volume, Hawthorn Blossoms, was published in attractive form in 1876 by Messrs. Lippincott. It was all too hastily prepared for the press, and contained many crude specimens of verse, lacking in artistic finish. It was put forth with fear and trembling on my part; but the critics magnanimously excused its faults and praised its beauties. The public received it with favor, partial friends patronized it, and the cluster of Blossoms proved not only successful but remunerative. The book has long been out of print, therefore a limited number of its poems are republished in these pages. Some natures are developed, some mental traits or gifts are cultivated, only through the genial influence of encouragement, and while I concede that my simple songs of the heart were not deserving of the encomiums accorded them, yet the meed of praise has been to me a rare incentive to worthier efforts, a truer appreciation of art, and a more earnest endeavor to excel. A few of these poems permit of the following brief explanation. The Souvenir to Longfellow brought a response from him, in which he complimented also the poem Unknown, and enclosed some autumn leaves accompanied by the well-known couplet, in his own clear chirography, The vine still clings to the mouldering wall, But at every gust the dead leaves fall. This precious memento of the dead poet bears date November 5, 1881, and was probably one of the last souvenirs sent by his own hand. The engraving Hope and Memory was greatly admired, while yet in form of photograph, by Mr. Longfellow, as a beautiful group from real life. il The Island...
