Excerpt from The Hovels of Ireland I]: is on this axiom that we base our present movement, which is directed - not against property or its rights - but against the abuse of those rights. When Madame Roland said, as, passing to her doom, she looked up at the statue of Liberty, Oh, Liberty, how many crimes have been committed in thy name! It was not because she loved or revered liberty the less; it was against the abuses perpetrated under its ensign that she protested. So now do we protest against the system which has turned an institution that was founded for the well-being of the greater number, and of the most industrious classes, into a mere instrument for the benefit of the smallest number and of the idlest class in society.
