Excerpt: . . . taxation, and redeemable in five years. Between the last named year and the year 1775 there were many issues ordered and emitted, chiefly to replace the bills which had been withdrawn from circulation because of the expiration of their several terms. In December, 1775, a convention was called, and an issue of 30, 000 in bills of credit ordered. In February, 1776, this amount was increased to 50, 000, conditioned upon its redemption before the year 1778, and they were so redeemed. In October, 1778, a forced loan of 259, 000 was raised on interest-bearing treasury notes, chiefly to meet and counteract the great depreciation in the currency. In 1780, 225, 000 in bills were issued to meet the quota of New Jersey, under the call of Congress. These bills were in denominations from one to twenty dollars. The same year 30, 000 were issued for currency purposes, in amounts from one shilling to seven shillings and sixpence. Under the provisions of the act these were to be redeemed before the close of the year 1787. . In 1786, 100, 000 in bills, from one shilling to six pounds, were emitted. The same year the legislature authorized a copper coinage, and two mints were established; one about two miles west of Morristown, at a place known as Solitude, and the other at Elizabeth. They continued in operation but a short time. No bank was chartered in the state previous to the year 1800. MARYLAND....
