Humans Vs Computers (Paperback)

By Gojko Adzic

Neuri Consulting LLP, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Humans vs Computers is a book about people caught between wrong assumptions and computer bugs. You ll read about humans who are invisible to computers, how a default password once caused a zombie apocalypse and why airlines sometimes give away free tickets. This is also a book on how to prevent, avoid and reduce the impact of such problems. Our lives are increasingly tracked, monitored and categorised by software, driving a flood of information into the vast sea of big data. In this brave new world, humans can t cope with information overload. Governments and companies alike rely on computers to automatically detect fraud, predict behaviour and enforce laws. Inflexible automatons, barely smarter than a fridge, now make life-changing decisions. Clever marketing tricks us into believing that phones, TV sets and even cars are somehow smart. Yet all those computer systems were created by people - people who are well-meaning but fallible and biased, clever but forgetful, and who have grand plans but are pressed for time. Digitising a piece of work doesn t mean there will be no mistakes, but instead guarantees...
