Excerpt from Lethal Doses of Several Commercial Chemicals for Fingerling Channel Catfish The data in the following table were collected during the screening of several chemicals to determine the toxicity of some of those in use or that might be useful in various phases of channel cat fish culture. The information reported should be useful to fishery workers interested in control of diseases, parasites, aquatic vegetation, and pollution of our streams and lakes. We have not yet tested the effectiveness of these chemicals for these control purposes. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
