His education in higher branches was acquired at Woodfield, Ohio. When the war came on he was just approaching majority, and, warmly attached to the cause of the Union, he threw himself into the conflict with all the patriotism of a true citizen of his country and all the zeal and ardor of youth. In 1861 he enlisted in Co. E, 77th Ohio Vol. Inf, and served without flinch in the field for nearly five years, and until he was honorably discharged on the 25th of April, 1866. He went through all the trying experiences including forced marches, heavy engagements, and prison life of that long and terrible struggle. Such was his conspicuous gallantry as a soldier that he rose by speedy and well merited promotions through all intermediate grades, from sergeant to the command of a company. During the latter part of the war he was an aide on Gen. Slack's staff. In the battle at Lark's Mill he was taken prisoner and held for about a year at Tyler, Texas, being finally exchanged at the mouth of Red river. Among the many hard fought, battles in which he took a brave part are recalled those of Shiloh, Corinth, Little Rock, Camden, Lark's Hill and Mobile. After his discharge he came to Alton, Illinois, where, in the meantime, on the 15th of July, 1862, he had been married to Miss Harriet, a daughter of Daniel Widaman. Three years after his...
