Excerpt: . . . 11 CJTF - HOA in which the military builds or refurbishes school buildings and USAID furnishes school books and supports teacher training. This long record of collaboration with the military across countries and across con-texts suggests that the cooperative relationship that is envisioned by AFRICOM is not entirely new. USAID has learned that the militarys logistical capabilities can be invaluable assets in emergency humanitarian assistance. Likewise, we have dem-onstrated that USAIDs unique skills in addressing a range of essential human needs for civilian populations in both peace and war is of substantial strategic ben-efit to the foreign policy of the United States. Thus, USAIDs coordination with the militarys civic action programs can lead to important synergies of effort, resources and expertise for the benefit our beneficiaries and in support of our interests. Yet experience has also taught us of the importance of maintaining the essential humanitarian and development character of USAID when we work with the mili-tary. While we represent the same government as our military colleagues, the...
