Paperback. Condition: New. 27 pages. Imagine transport, trucks moving at 600 mph with the vehicles motor turned off and no people on board while being transported on the Hi-speed Electric Truck Elevated Roadway (HETER). A driver takes the truck from a manufacturing facility to a Kiosk where the truck is computer-checked for safety and operational viability. The HETER system will transport the truck robotically (no people on board) as freight to a distant destination. It will use an electro-magnetic form of propulsion. Electro- magnetic propulsion uses electro-magnets to levitate and hold the truck in place from about a half inch to almost four inches above the plane on which the truck travels. Today's trains make intermediate stops at stations to pick up and drop off travelers and freight. Using trucks on this new system means no intermediate loading and unloading of freight. The truck will travel nonstop from the source kiosk where it entered HETER to the destination. There won't be intermediate stops. Implementation of HETER will provide jobs in technology, engineering, project management, construction, and will help many second tier companies that will benefit by providing services and materials for construction and operation of HETER system. Workers in the USA can do most of the work. From 1993 to 2007 over 660, 000 people died in traffic accidents; 44 million people sustained injury. The HETER system will significantly help to reduce deaths and injury due to highway truck accidents. We use over 20 million barrels of oil daily. Gas wastage by congestion and personal driving for automobiles and trucks exceeds four billion gallons annually. Commercial moving of freight will justify the HETER roadway. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg, OR, La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
